The College Trustees Have Announced Their Decision

SAY THEY SAW MONEY PAID

Two Important Witnesses Gave Testimony in the Strong Case.

WAS THE PROSECUTION'S DAY

Toohy and Bell Gave Damaging Testimony---Defense Says Miners Union Blew Up the Mine.

Special to the Gazette

Denver April 30—The principal feature of today's testimony in the Strong trial was the statement of a number of witnesses that they saw Strong pay Kid Allen and Munford the money for blowing up the Strong mine. Two of the witnesses to the transaction were on the stand today and swore that they saw the money paid over. One was Pat Toohy and the other was William H Bell both of Victor.

The men testified that one night about three weeks after the explosion they were in Tom Purse's cabin at Victor ... a rap came at the door. At the request of Kid Allen every one in the room got behind a curtain except Allen and Munford and while they were back of the curtain Strong came in and paid over the money. Bell also testified that on the ninth of last March Strong met him at a dentist's office in Victor and offered to pay him any amount of money he wanted if he would come to Denver and would give testimony that would counteract Kid Allen's deposition. Bell said that he took the ... of advisement and finally said he would come if he was given $1,000 down $5,000 if the case came to trial and $10 a day and expenses during the trial. The sum was considered too large. Bell said he told the ... because his lawyer had instructed him to do so in order that the evidence could be used at this trial. All the witnesses today admitted that at different times during their lives they had been in jail charged with various ... One of the principal points ... is being made by the defendants is that the Strong mine at the time of the explosion was guarded by the miners union and that a person without a pass could not get near the mine. It developed during the cross examination that the defendants would attempt to prove that the miner's union was responsible for the destruction of the mine.

Happy Jack Rhines was the first witness this morning and Attorney Waldron continued his cross examination. Mr Waldron undertook to make Rhines state whether he had ever said that whoever got him to testify would have to pay him well for his testimony. Rhines denied ever having made such a statement. He admitted that so far he has received $... and his expenses attending the trial. His testimony given yesterday was not shaken by the cross examination.

Saw the Money Paid

Pat H Toohy was the next witness. He said he was a miner and a bartender and that he lived in Victor. He testified that he saw Strong pay Kid Allen and Munford for blowing up the mine. He said that he was in Tom Purse's cabin one night with Tom Purse, Bill Bell, Kid Allen and Henry Munford. It was about three weeks after the explosion. They were all there upon an invitation by Purse to take supper with him. While they were there a rap came at the door. When the rap was heard Kid Allen told them to get behind some curtains which were stretched across the room making a bedroom out of the rear of the main room. All who were in the room except Allen and Munford got behind the curtain. Allen then opened the door and Sam Strong came in. After passing the time of day Strong said to the two men who were inside "I want to settle with you fellows for the job you did for me." Strong then took out of his pocket two envelopes and from each envelope he took out and counted a roll of bills. He gave the first roll to Allen and the second roll to Munford laying the envelopes on a table which was near the center of the room. After he had paid them Strong said "When are you two fellows going to leave camp?" They told him that probably they would go the next night. Strong then said "Well you have done a good job." Allen then counted the money and said "It's all right." Strong then picked up his hat and after saying "Good night boys" passed out. The three men then came from behind the curtain. Munford put his money in his pocket while Allen handed Bell a $10 bill and told him to go get a can of beer. The witness described the cabin as being 24 feet long and 15 to 16 feet wide and said that the curtains were about 9 feet from the rear wall. The table where the money was counted out was about ten feet in front of the curtains.

Attorney Waldron again conducted a fierce cross examination. He began by having Toohy give a history of the Bull Hill trouble and the witness finally admitted that at the time of the explosion ... that the miners union had blown up the mine to prevent the deputies from occupying it. He had the witness give a minute description of Kid Allen as he appeared on that night. Waldron then handed the witness a piece of paper and a lead pencil and compelled him to draw a plan of the room showing where each man stood, where the curtain was, where each of the three men were behind it, also giving the location of the chairs, table, stove, doors, windows, bed and everything else when compared with the table in the center of the room. He also made him show the directions on his map and made him give a description of how the curtains were hung and how it was that those who were back of them could witness what was going on in the room. Waldron then took up the history of Toohy's life. It was brought out that at one time he had been convicted and served a jail sentence for using obscene language. The witness was not sure how much money Strong paid the two ... but thought it was either $... or $... each. The witness had never heard that Kid Allen in his deposition placed the amount at $250 each. The witness said that he stayed at the cabin until about ... o'clock that night and then went home. Two days after that he met Kid Allen in a saloon and Allen told him that the money was paid to him for the blowing up of the Strong mine. The witness testified that he was in the camp when Lyons and Tullis were on trial in Colorado Springs for the blowing up of the mine. The witness said that he did not think his testimony would help the prisoners at that time. He thought the sentiment in Colorado Springs was too much against them. The witness testified that Nick Tullis got him to come to Denver on this trial. He said he got $75 and expenses and understood that he would also get witness fees. He testified that a Mr Brady gave him the money. He said he thought that Messrs Lennox and Giddings advanced the money to Brady. Attorney Waldron then began a cross examination reviewing the entire Bull Hill trouble. He brought out the fact that at the time of the blowing up of the mine a part of Battle mountain was patrolled and guarded by armed strikers but he could not get the witness to state whether the Strong mine was inside the lines or not. During the cross examination Mr Waldron said that he would try to prove that the miners union was responsible for the destruction. He brought out the fact that it was impossible for anyone to go between the lines unless they had a pass. The witness admitted that he was armed and on Battle mountain during the trouble. He also admitted that he thought the blowing up of the Strong mine was to keep the deputies from getting into the camp.

William H Bell of Victor was the last witness of the day. He has lived in Victor since September 1894. He was well acquainted with Strong, Allen, Munford and Purse. He testified that he was in Purse's cabin when Strong came in and paid the money to Allen and Munford. His direct testimony was exactly the same as had been sworn to by previous witnesses. He said the first time that he ever mentioned that he knew about the case was to Nick Tullis in Las Vegas N M. He swore that on the ninth of last March two men came to him and said they were in the employ of Sam Strong. They came to his cabin in Victor. A Mr Reese one of the men told him there would be money in his pocket if he would have an interview with Strong. He agreed to meet Strong that afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Last Chance saloon in Victor. When the time came he met the two detectives and they invited him to go down to a dentist's office in that city. Reese told him to follow them instead of going with them so as not to attract attention. They went ahead and he followed about five minutes afterwards.

Shortly after he got into the dentist's office Strong came in and after a few words said "Well let's get down to business. I've got the money and I want to get evidence to break Kid Allen's deposition." The witness said that Strong told him to make out any bill that he chose and mail it to him and he would pay the price. The witness said he told Strong that he had already made an affidavit as to what had happened and he could not go back on the affidavit. The witness said that Strong told him to go on the stand and swear that he had been threatened into making the affidavit or that he was drunk. The witness said he told Strong that he would take the matter under advisement. The witness then went and told his attorney Mr Brady and on March 16 he made his reply to Mr Strong through Mr Reese.

"I told Mr Reese that in order to do what he wanted I must have $1,500 down, $5,000 if it came to trial and $10 a day and expenses during trial. Reese said 'Well you don't want much do you.'" The witness said that he did that at the advice of his attorney so it could be used in this trial. Under cross examination he admitted that he had been in jail at Colorado Springs on the charge of kidnaping a deputy sheriff. He also admitted that he was indicted for blowing up the Strong mine. He said he was well acquainted with Bob Lyons and Nick Tullis but that he did not tell what he knew during their trial because he thought the feeling in Colorado Springs was so high at that time that they would lynch him for suggesting such a thing.

The cross examination was still on when court adjourned.

College Land For College Purposes

To Divert the Property from Its Original Purpose Would Be Violation of the Trust Imposed by the Donors.

Each of the citizens who signed the petition asking the trustees of Colorado college to open Tejon street open through the college reservation has received a reply from the college authorities. Accompanying the letter is a diagram showing what the trustees propose to do to beautify the college campus so as to make it a park for the benefit of the entire city. The letter is as follows:

April ... 1901.

Mr Verner Z Reed and Other Petitioners, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Gentlemen—Your petition requesting that a street be opened directly through the College reservation has been duly received and considered by the board of trustees of Colorado College. Careful and minute investigation has been made by the board of all that is involved in the request contained in your petition. At all times it is the purpose of the board to serve in every possible way the best interests of the city. The board however has imposed upon it primarily the duty of conserving the interests of Colorado college as an educational institution. It believes that the highest interests of the college are also the highest interests of the city and that whatever conduces to the best scientific work at the college will be for the ultimate good of the city.

While it would be a pleasure to extend every possible courtesy to the petitioners yet in view of all the considerations involved in this request it does not seem to the board right to open a street through the college ground. In view of the fact that the continuation of Tejon street will involve a thoroughfare carrying an ultimately large amount of traffic which would seriously interfere with the purposes of the college but will also prevent the campus from being transferred into the kind of public park which seems most necessary for our city.

The board of trustees after careful consultation find that first of all it is impossible to grant this request in view of the purposes for which the reservation was given to the college. The Colorado Springs company donated this land solely for educational purposes and any action on the part of this board which diverts this property from its original purpose is a violation of the trust imposed upon it. The original donors of the land are not willing to change the nature of the conditions under which the grant of land was made to the college even if this board for other reasons should deem it its duty to decline the request to open the street through its property.

The board of trustees further finds after consultation with members of the faculty and after a study of the experiences of other institutions that it is absolutely necessary for the best scientific experimentation that laboratory buildings should be placed as far ... vibrations caused by such traffic interfere seriously with most important scientific work such as accurate and critical assaying of ores, experimentation in electricity and kindred work. Many of the best buildings in this country upon which large sums of money have been expended have been seriously hampered in carrying out the work for which they were built by opening up streets within their immediate vicinity. The college is most fortunate in possessing this tract of land which is admirably adapted for scientific laboratories. The location of the new science building must have in view the highest educational interests of the college and these cannot be conserved if a public thoroughfare is opened through the college grounds. This decision has been reached after extensive correspondence and an investigation of conditions at leading colleges and universities in the country. It should also be borne in mind that the demand for accurate scientific work will constantly increase with the growth of the college. The decisions which are made to-day must have in view the future of the college.

The board has reached this decision bearing in mind the fact that the city needs large open spaces free from the disturbances that must necessarily attend street traffic. The property which at present is being expended is for the purpose of giving to the college and to the city a large open park which will serve not only the interests of the college but also the many people in our city who need such attractions as only a park of this kind can give. The board is very glad to announce that it is its purpose to open up the park to the public with entrances to it from all sides so that in place of a barren stretch of ground in the residence part of the city there is to be a park so beautified that it will be an attraction in every way to the city. It is also the purpose of the board to open broad paths from the termination of Tejon street at Cache la Poudre to San Rafael street—such paths to be diverted only as is necessary by the location of the scientific building. The diversion of paths which begins at the middle of the park will not be a serious inconvenience to those passing from north to south or in the opposite direction.

This board believes that the park improvement is offering to the people of the city very much more than it takes from them.

It further believes that when the whole work is completed and the new building erected with the educational advantages which it offers that it will be recognized by all that the plans which have been made have been for the best good of the college and that it will be shown that whatever enhances the larger future of Colorado college also is for the greatest stability of Colorado Springs as a residence town.

From the experience in all other places especially in college towns it is also confidently believed that the property north and south of the reservation will be appreciated in value by the existence of such a park as is so planned.

Believing that ultimately you yourselves will come to see the wisdom of this decision we are

Very respectfully yours,

EVIDENCE WHICH WENT AGAINST PROF. EASTMAN

Cambridge Mass April 30—The pendulum of evidence in the Eastman murder trial today swung slightly over to the government's side of the case through a favorable decision in the morning and some expert testimony in the afternoon tending to show that the bullet taken from Grogan's body came from a center fire revolver although Eastman in his many statements said that the accident took place while he had an old rim fire revolver in his hands.

Members of Grogan's family testified that Eastman had said that he was not on good terms with Grogan.

The expert testimony offered on the composition of the rim fire and center fire cartridges was of interest as Professor Wood of Harvard who had made an examination testified that he had found tin in the fragment of bullet taken from Grogan's body which corresponded with the composition of the center fire bullet while the rim fire bullet was of pure lead.

When court opened this morning the judge announced that it had been decided to admit testimony as to the relations between the two men seven months prior to killing of Grogan provided it was shown that the alleged ill feeling had continued up to the date of Grogan's death.

John Grogan brother of the dead man then took the stand. He described a quarrel between Eastman and Richard Grogan in November 1899, when Grogan told Eastman that he was tired of feeding Eastman and his family. Eastman was in the act of raising a chair when witness put his foot on it and stepped between the men. Eastman withdrew saying to Richard Grogan "I will plug you if I have to wait five years for this."

Eastman repeated this declaration twice.

"THE HEART OF DIXIE"

True Southern Welcome Was Given President McKinley.

FIRST STOP WAS AT MEMPHIS

An Eloquent Address on "The Resistless Power of a Great, United People."

Memphis Tenn April 30—The presidential party passed through the heart of Dixie today and at 4:30 this afternoon reached Memphis on the banks of the Mississippi. This was the first resting place of the tour. After descending the mountains last night the train today skirted along through northern Alabama and the valley of the Tennessee river and touched Corinth Miss where General Grant worsted Forrest in his campaign to cut the confederacy in two.

The fresh green southland with its fruit in full bloom and its infinite variety of wild flowers in the fields and forest was a great change from the backward spring which the party had left behind at Washington. The heat was rather oppressive but the weather was not so warm as the president's welcome. The hearty greetings extended to him along the route testified how completely he had captured the hearts of the people of Dixie. Confederate veterans at all the stopping places were among the president's most enthusiastic auditors and that he was impressed with their marks of love and esteem will be evident after a perusal of the brief speeches he made at Huntsville, Decatur, Tuscumbia and Corinth.

During the morning at the regular hour for the cabinet to assemble the president summoned his advisers into the observation car and there behind closed doors the first cabinet meeting on wheels was held. No important advices had been received from Washington which required action but the foreign dispatches in the paper were taken over and some of the details as yet undetermined were discussed.

At Memphis the party received a wonderful welcome. A committee headed by Senator Carmack met the train at Corinth and escorted the party to this city. A national salute of twenty one guns fired from the river bluffs signaled the approach to the city. At the station Governor McMillin and others reinforced the greetings to the party. A military parade with a company of grizzled confederate veterans in their old uniforms acting as the guard of honor escorted the party in carriages through the principal streets and around the custom house whence a view of the Mississippi now almost overflowing on the Arkansas side was obtained to Court Square. The city was ... and bunting. Not a residence or business house seemed to have escaped from the desire to decorate in honor of the president's coming. Banners were stretched across the streets bearing such inscriptions as "Mr President, the City is Yours," "The nation's president."

The cheering through which the procession passed was tremendous at points along the route. In Court Square where the reception occurred the platform was so hedged around with roses and other blossoms as to make a flower show. Over 15,000 people were packed into the square when the president was introduced by Mayor Williams. In response to the cheers which greeted him the president made the first really notable speech of his trip.

His theme was "The Resistless Power of a Great, United People," and the speech was delivered in his best vein. When he referred in closing to the noble record of the Tennessee volunteers in the Spanish and Philippines wars Gov McMillin led the cheering. The speech in full follows:

"I reciprocate the sentiments of good will and fraternity expressed by your honored mayor and shown in the cordial reception on the part of the people of Tennessee. I do not misinterpret this demonstration. I do not appropriate it but accept it in its true spirit and recognize its true significance to our common country. It is representative of that good feeling happily existing between the people of the United States and which is not bounded by state political or geographical lines ... is coextensive with the union itself and exists because of our love for the union. It is not perfunctory or superficial but deep and heartfelt. It is the hearty honest sentiment of a people loving their country and proud of its institutions and determined that both shall be maintained. It is powerfully influencing our national life and development and completing that unification so essential to national security and indispensible to the realization of our national strength and influence.

"What mighty resistless power for good is a united nation of free men. It makes for peace and prestige for progress and liberty. It conserves the rights of the people and strengthens the pillars of the government and is a fulfillment of that true perpetuation for which our revolutionary fathers strove and for which the Constitution was made. No citizen of the republic rejoices more than I do at this happy state and none will do more within his power to continue and strengthen it. Our past has gone into history. No brighter one adorns the annals of mankind. Our task is in the future. We waive the old century behind us holding on to its achievements and cherishing its memory and turn with hope to the new with its opportunities and its obligations.

"These we must meet, men of the south and men of the north with high purpose and resolution. Without internal troubles to distract us or jealousies to disturb our judgment we will solve the problems which confront us untrammeled by the past and wisely and courageously pursue a policy of right and justice in all things making the future under God even more glorious than the past.

"I am glad to meet with the people of Memphis and of the state of Tennessee. Their history is associated with the greatest struggles and sacrifices of our country and their valor has been conspicuous on every battlefield of the republic. The commonwealth has lost none of the zeal and patriotism which gave to it in the early days the name of the Volunteer state. It shows it is still worthy of that proud designation for even now its enlistments in the army ... according to population exceed any other state in the union (Applause). Her record in the Spanish war was a distinguished one. I shall never forget that during the anxious days of 1899 it was the Tennessee soldiers in the Philippines with unfaltering patriotism led all others in re-enlistment ... forming. (Renewed applause)

"They encouraged their comrades and cheered the heart of the whole country. Nor can I fail to remember and recall in their presence and make acknowledgment to the gallant First Tennessee volunteers who having once embarked on the transports with their faces turned homeward and toward those they loved voluntarily disembarked and marching to the relief of their comrades in distress fought a brave fight and with them turned defeat into victory. All honor to the Tennessee volunteers and all the gratitude of which my heart is capable to the noble men and women of this city for this magnificent welcome to myself and my associates." (Prolonged applause)

After this speech the party was driven to the Twentieth Century club a ladies organization of this city. Here there was a veritable beauty show. About 30 charming southern belles held court in a bower of roses arranged around a gilded ... chair which was designed to hold the president. Mr McKinley however was too wary to be caught in the net. He did not take the chair but braved the battery of eyes and after greeting each of the young ladies personally in turn he was introduced by J W Crawford of the Commercial Appeal and made a pretty speech. After this function the ladies of the party were taken in hand by the ladies of Memphis. A reception was held in their honor and later a banquet was given them at the Peabody hotel. At the same time on the floor above the president and the gentlemen of his party with about 200 prominent business men of the city sat down to an elaborate dinner.

SOUTHERNERS' WELCOME ON HISTORIC BATTLE GROUND

Corinth Miss April 30—At Corinth where Grant routed Forrest a tattered old Confederate flag below the stars and stripes was the feature of the decorations. Here a handsome floral piece was presented to the president.

The president spoke as follows:

"This is our first stop in the state of Mississippi and I assure you that of the many cordial receptions we have had upon our journey none has been warmer or more heartfelt and more generous than that which you give in your interesting and progressive city.

"I am glad to be on this historic ground. Your battlefields about you attest the courage and valor and heroism of the American soldiers on both sides of the line. There is but one side happily, now and we are all together on that side. The valor and the heroism of the men of the south and the men of the north have within the last three years been shown in Cuba, in Puerto Rico and in the Philippines and in China and when we are all on one side we are unconquerable. (Applause) But peace has her triumphs no less than war and it is triumphs of peace that the American people are striving for today. We do not want any war. We are not a pirate power; we are a peace power. We love peace better than war, and our swords never should be drawn except in a righteous cause and then never until every effort at peace and arbitration shall be exhausted.

"I congratulate you my fellow citizens upon prosperity of the country. We never were so well off as we are today. We never had so many happy homes. We never had such high credit, such good money, so much business as we have in the United States in the year 1901, and it is our business, your business, for the public official is but the agent of the people—your business as well as mine to see to it that an industrial policy shall be pursued in the United States that shall open up the widest markets in every part of the world for the products of the American soil and the American manufactories. We can now supply our own markets. We have reached that point in our industrial development and in order to secure ... for our surplus products we must open up new avenues for our surplus. I am sure that in that sentiment there will be no division north or south. Our products are now going to every part of the world from the north as well as the south because what we produce is wanted." (Applause)

P. O. ORDER FRAUD

Government Agents Are Hunting For Men Who Passed Raised Postoffice Orders on Local Merchants.

United States secret service men are having a little work to do in Colorado Springs and Denver that they would like very much to bring to a successful termination. Someone has been causing considerable trouble lately by raising postal money orders and two of these bogus orders were cashed in Colorado Springs on Monday evening.

It is believed that there is an organized band of money order raisers at work in Denver and that the gang consists of two men and a woman.

On Monday evening at 6:15 a man entered the clothing store of M S Rafield on Pike's Peak avenue and asked to see some pants. He was shown several garments and finally selected a pair the price of which was $5. He produced a postal money order for $30 and Mr Rafield authorized the cashier to accept it, the purchaser being given the difference $25. A few moments later a man entered the clothing store of Alex Reibsheld at 12 E Huerfano street and asked to see some pants. He was shown several pairs of pants ... and finally he was persuaded to purchase a full suit for which he was to pay $15. He produced a postal money-order for $30 and was given $15 which he took away with the suit of clothes.

Yesterday morning Mr Rafield and Mr Reibsheld happened to meet each en route to the postoffice to cash a money-order for $30. When each learned the other's mission he became suspicious and when they learned that the two orders had been left by the same man without a doubt they made up their minds that something was wrong. It took but a moment to ascertain that the letters of advice on which the orders bearing the numbers held by the local merchants were to be paid authorized the payment of but 60 cents on each. The merchants are out the difference.

They describe the man who held the orders and from whom they received them as a man of medium build, sandy complexion and apparently about 35 years of age. The name that was on the orders is not divulged but it is believed to be fictitious. The man is said to have shown letters to him from another man written in Denver, the letters purporting to accompany money-orders for $30. It is said furthermore that a ... colored woman called at the postoffice Monday and asked for and received mail addressed to the name that was on the fictitious orders.

FOUND OUT

A Trained Nurse Discovered Its Effect,

No one is in better position to know the value of food and drink than a trained nurse.

Speaking of coffee a nurse of Wilkesbarre Pa writes I used to drink strong coffee myself and suffered greatly from headaches and indigestion While on a visit to my brothers I had a good chance to try Postum Cereal Food Coffee for they drank it altogether in place of ordinary coffee In two weeks after using Postum I found I was much benefited and finally my headaches disappeared and also the indigestion

Naturally I have since used Postum among my patients and have noticed a marked benefit where coffee has been left off and Postum used

I observe a curious fact about Postum used among mothers. It greatly helps the flow of milk in cases where coffee is inclined to dry it up and where tea causes nervousness

I find trouble in getting servants to make Postum properly They most always serve it before it has been boiled long enough It should be boiled 15 or 20 minutes and served with cream when it is certainly a delicious beverage Mrs Ella C Burns 302 E. South Street, Wilkesbarre, Pa.

MINING NEWS OF LEADVILLE

The Home Mining Co. Has Disbursed Its Sixth Dividend.

THE IOWA GULCH ACTIVITY

Eastern Companies Have Bought up Large Tracts—No Complaint on Smelter Charges

Special to the Gazette

Leadville April 30—The sixth dividend of the Home Mining company has just been distributed amounting to $1,000 The intention of the directors is to declare one of a similar amount every month, being ½ of a cent a share on the capitalization of $2 000 000

The property is now producing 325 tons of ore per day averaging from $7 to $14 a ton net This is about double the value of the ore shipped last winter and indicates a very marked improvement in the grade The Bon Air shaft has already been sunk 100 feet to the 640 foot level but diamond drilling having proved so satisfactory in the discovery of mineral another lift will be put down The Home stock has been rather quiet lately investors apparently waiting until the shares are listed on the exchange in Colorado Springs

Activity in Iowa Gulch

The Iowa gulch section of the district is showing more life this year than for many seasons past This is accounted for by the coming in of several large eastern companies to explore new territory A very large proportion of what is known as "inside" ground on Carbonate Iron and Breece hills has already been secured by companies and individuals and no large tracts are available though bunches here and there of 10 15 or 25 acres can be secured Some companies want to obtain tracts of 150 or 200 acres and in order to do so they must get into the outlying sections so called In Iowa gulch which is the next gulch south of California gulch the typical Leadville formation is found in place and some mines have been opened up The best shipper is the First National is taking out 70 tons a day of sulphides The largest prospecting enterprise is that of the Empire Mining company in which Boston capital is largely interested This company has 150 acres under a long lease and it will be remembered made a sensational discovery not long ago in opening up immense lime stone caves partially filled with iron ore

The Smelter Charges

Leadville has thus far had no particular complaint to make in regard to the smelter charges except the usual grievances of long standing such as the deduction of 5 per cent from silver quotations and 8 per cent on gold which are coeval with the mining industry throughout the state In some respects Leadville is exceptionally favored, insofar as its natural resources are concerned It is a well known fact that in order to conduct the smelting business on a profitable basis there must be a very large supply of ore available The high grade ores cannot furnish this tonnage so dependence must be placed on lower grade material One of the great storehouses for this material is the Leadville district Of equal importance is the securing of the proper mixtures and here again Leadville ores figure largely This district produces oxidized iron lead carbonates lean and iron sulphides and silicious ores The iron ore as a flux is especially desirable and its production has always been encouraged by the smelters The treatment charges on sulphide ores average about $5 a ton though zinc penalties sometimes bring it higher The Arkansas Valley part of the combine has 10 furnaces with a capacity of 1 200 tons of ore and depends almost exclusively on the district for its ores While the trust will no doubt insist on long time contracts under the new regime miners particularly those who are taking out low grade ores do not anticipate any increase in treatment charges

THE ALLOTMENT OF THE LOTS

Distribution of Sites in the Rustic Home Addition.

AMONG THE SHAREHOLDERS

One House Secured by John V. Donaldson and the Other by Pueblo Stenographers.

The division of lots in the Rustic Home addition among the shareholders was held yesterday afternoon on the addition at 2 o'clock. For an hour before that time people came from every direction and it was surprising how many people took an interest in the drawing. Many persons who owned shares in the addition were present and many were absent, but the drawing went off just the same, and those who were absent were not given the worst of it in any way.

The manner of selection was as follows: There were envelopes containing the names of the 25 shareholders and another lot of envelopes each containing a slip on which was written the number of a lot and block. The two lots of envelopes were put into separate sacks and well shaken up and two little girls were selected to draw the envelopes out. The name drawn out of the sack drew the piece of property designated on the slip of paper drawn out at the same time. Dr. Briscoe was selected as chairman of the drawing and W. R. Gilbert secretary. A committee examined the envelopes after they were prepared, to see that they were correct. The girls selected to take the envelopes from the sacks were Glee Pogejoy and Elva Pine.

Mr. John V. Donaldson, one of the local promoters of the new bank, drew one of the houses, his property being listed as lot 13 of block 4. He only purchased his share a few minutes before the drawing took place. Mr. John B. Watt sold his share on the grounds at an advance of $10 over the price paid for it. The last lot was drawn by John Dolson and is lot No. 17 of block 5.

The other house was drawn by Miss Nellie Naw and Miss Martha Moore of Pueblo. Both the young ladies are stenographers in that city, one being in the employ of General Roadmaster Hackler and the other Supervisor A. C. Sneder.

Those who drew the Colorado avenue lots are Charles A. Young, Alex Taws, William M. Beeson, Samuel M. Moore, Harry Moyer, Charles A. Nelson, Geo. W. Sadler, C. G. Walkley, Laura N. Moore, Lizzie Gervis, Stanley J. Britton, James W. Anthony and James A. Orr. These lots are worth about double the price paid for them.

WOODMEN WILL TAKE A FIVE YEARS' LEASE

The Woodmen of the World have taken a five years' lease on the third story of the Waycott building and will occupy it as soon as the structure is completed.

This is the statement made to a Gazette reporter by one of the members of the committee selected to confer with Mr. Waycott, and the statement was confirmed by that gentleman yesterday.

Mr. Waycott has offered to build the third story of his building to conform to any plans which the Woodmen may suggest and another meeting will be held soon to decide just what kind of rooms the lodge will want to have constructed. The lease has not been signed yet, but will be in a few days.

Mr. Waycott has offered to allow the Woodmen to lay the cornerstone of his new building and the lodge will consider the matter at some meeting in the near future. The basement of the building will be completed by the first of July and will be partially occupied by the plant of the El Paso County Argus.

GROUND IS BROKEN FOR NEW LAUNDRY

Ground for the new steam laundry building was broken yesterday. The building will be rushed to completion. Mr. Fairbanks, who is building the structure, left Monday for Chicago, where he will purchase the necessary machinery for the laundry. This machinery will cost $1,500 and the total expense of building the structure and putting the necessary machinery and fixtures in the building will be about $4,000. The building will have a frontage of 50 feet on Colorado avenue and will be a one-story brick building, well adapted for the purpose for which it is intended. Mr. Fairbanks will purchase his laundry wagons in Racine, Wis.

CITY BRIEFS.

MRS. JOHNSON BURIED—The funeral services over the remains of the late Mary Elizabeth Johnson were held from the family residence in this city yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock Rev. A. J. Powell of the First Baptist church officiating. The services were in charge of the local lodges of Yeomen, of which deceased was a member, and the interment was in Fairview cemetery.

BRICK YARD—Work on the new brick yard in Glastown is progressing rapidly and the plant will be ready for work much sooner than was at first expected.

TO LADDY

To the Editor of the Gazette:

I wish to correct an error in your account of the murder of my noble St. Bernard friend, Laddy, which appeared in your issue this morning.

There is not one word of truth in the statement that Laddy was disturbing the hares of his assassin. He was passing the residence of his murderer, when, without cause, reason or even a pretext, he was shot. When shot he was not on the premises of the person guilty of the cruel act. In all his life he never had a difficulty with man or beast. The gentlest, the tenderest and most affectionate of his noble race, he was admired by all men who are brave and all women who are fair, and the pet of all children who are good.

My dear, dumb friend, low lying there
A willing vassal at my feet,
Glad partner of my home and fare,
My shadow on the street.

I look into your great brown eyes,
Where love and loyal homage shine,
And wonder where the difference lies
Between your soul and mine.

Ah, Laddy, did I worship God
As truly as you worshiped me,
Or follow where my Master trod
With your own sweet humility,

Did I sit fondly at His feet
As you, dear Laddy, sat at mine,
And watch Him with a love as sweet
My life had grown divine.

Amusements.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

The stage settings of "The County Fair," which will be seen at the Opera house Saturday evening, presented in this city with Nell Burgess himself in his famous creation of Abigail Prue, are such as to stamp them the limit of stage realism. Aunt Abigail's sitting room is as faithful a representation of an old New England room where the family usually congregate as real wall paper, old furniture, crockery, etc., can make it. The attention to detail in this and other scenes is wonderful. In beauty and adherence to nature, the scene at Rock Bottom farm excels anything of the kind ever seen on the stage. There is not a single portion of this scene which suggests anything but reality. The scene of Abigail's barn, with its Alderney cow, "Cold Molasses," the singing and husking bee are most charming in their simplicity. The fair ground and race track scenes in the last act are very much more perfect in all respects this season than ever heretofore and as a matter of fact it is said that the realism of the race is now such that it requires one to look away from the stage to dispel the illusion. On the play and Nell Burgess himself the press and public have everywhere set the seal of approval, but the production this season is announced and so indorsed by all who have witnessed it as positively more perfect and pleasing than anything of the kind ever presented in connection with modern stage presentations. Reserved seats now on sale at the Santa Fe ticket office at popular prices.

ODD FELLOWS

PARTY OF VISITORS TO THE SUMMIT YESTERDAY.

Grand Sire Cable and Other Distinguished Members of the Order Enjoyed the Trip.

A special train was run over the cog road to the summit of the peak yesterday morning for the accommodation of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows who were in Manitou for a short time yesterday. The day was one of the best that Manitou has seen this spring and the view from the peak was perfect. The special train left Manitou station at 8:30 and returning arrived at 5:15. One of the handsome new cars recently built at the cog road shops in this city was sent up this afternoon and they will be used for the remainder of the season.

The party was composed of a number of the high officials of the I. O. O. F. lodge, among them being Grand Sire A. C. Cable. Besides these about 20 of the Odd Fellows made the ascent yesterday afternoon and were greatly delighted with the trip and the view from the summit.

The station house on the top of the peak will be improved as soon as the weather becomes somewhat warmer. A second story was added to the old signal station last fall and when the tower is placed on top of the building visitors will be enabled to ascend about 100 feet above the top of the peak proper. The new cars of the cog road make that company better able to handle the summer business and the management of the road is looking forward to the best tourist trade since the opening of the road.

SALOON LICENSES GRANTED IN MANITOU

The town board of trustees met last Saturday night for the purpose of considering the application for saloon licenses which were filed with the clerk over a week ago. The meeting was solely for this purpose and no other business was transacted.

Licenses were granted to M. H. Jones and Jacob Becker and the license for a saloon in the old Albrecht place near the car line depot was rejected. This place has not had a very good reputation in the past and it was for this reason that the board did not care to grant the license. M. H. Jones will conduct a saloon in the old Nolon place, which will be known in the future as in the past, by the name of the "Buffalo." Jacob Becker will run his same old place in the extreme eastern part of the town.

After transacting this business the board adjourned until next Tuesday night, which is the regular meeting night.

MAY DIE

HENRY DAVIS BADLY HURT IN RUNAWAY.

Accident Occurred Near the Iron Bridge on the Iron Springs Road —Tourists Bruised.

A very serious accident occurred on Ruxton avenue yesterday afternoon in which Henry Davis, a hackman, was probably fatally injured and a party of tourists were more or less bruised.

Just as the carriage driven by Davis and containing the party came under the Midland trestle an engine westbound emerged from the tunnel near the bridge puffing at a great rate. The locomotive was directly over the horses and frightened them into running away. They whirled around and upset the buggy, throwing its occupants to the ground. Davis held onto the lines and was dragged for a considerable distance, until rounding a sharp turn in the road, he was thrown to one side and lost his hold.

Davis was carried to his home, which is in Colorado City, and it is probable that he will die as his injuries are very severe. The other occupants of the carriage were able to walk down town.

MORE HELIOS

MANITOU SERVICE TO BE GREATLY IMPROVED.

New Switchboard is put in and Party Line Service will be Started.

In preparation for the summer trade in this city, the Colorado Telephone company is making extensive improvements in the local exchange. A new switch board of the latest pattern is being put in the place of the old one in Grant's store and the lines between here and Colorado Springs are being repaired and put in first class shape.

The new exchange board is of standard type and will be a great improvement over the old one. It will have 50 drops and room so that more can be added if it is found to be necessary. A motor run by a battery in the cellar will supply current so that it will only be necessary to touch the button to ring the bell on the phone which is being connected. This is a great advantage and time saver over the old bell ringing method. Last fall there were five new circuits put in between Manitou and Colorado Springs and the company will be better able to handle the heavy summer business this season than ever before. At present there are 20 telephones in the city and the number will in all probability increase to 50 or more by next July. The party line system is being inaugurated, and as this decreases the expense it is thought that a number of people will put in telephones in their residences or business houses.

The latter says that it is very remarkable that she has lived so long and thinks that there is hope for her recovery.

"MANILA BAY" ANNIVERSARY.

(By Captain J. B. Coghlan, U. S. N.)

THREE years ago today on Sunday, May 1, 1898, was fought the battle of Manila Bay, where the United States squadron of six vessels under the command of Admiral (then Commodore) George Dewey annihilated the Spanish squadron of nine vessels under Rear Admiral Montojo off the town of Cavite, about six and a half miles from Manila. This was a most wonderful battle in most of its aspects. Our squadron, although numerically superior in gun fire to the Spanish vessels, was inferior, and vastly so, to the enemy guns afloat and ashore, which bore on our vessels and were used during the fight. Owing to the shoalness of the water about the locality where the Spanish squadron was massed, the battle was one at comparatively long range, as the lack of necessary local knowledge prevented our squadron from closing in to short range. Even under such disadvantages the vast superiority of American men, methods and training was clearly demonstrated, and can be best appreciated by the fact that after an exchange of shot for nearly three hours, the Americans came out of battle practically uninjured without the loss of a man, while the Spanish vessels were all destroyed with an unknown loss of men, admitted by the Spaniards to amount to 381 people.

As is well known in these days of steam propulsion, coal is a most important factor in naval warfare, and without it vessels are useless. This fact compelled our squadron to take with them, in colliers, enough coal to retreat to China in case of disaster, and the slowness of the colliers hampered its movements to a great degree. But the senseless panic of the people of Manila, as was the case on the eastern seaboard of the United States, compelled the Spanish admiral to cluster his vessels in those waters, and gave our squadron its sole chance to destroy it at one blow and thus by the same stroke insure its own safety, secure our western coast from all fear, strike with a wholesome fear the navy of Spain, and confine the war to Cuban waters. The rest of our little navy was thus given a free scope and could concentrate its efforts in the best manner possible.

Incidentally the battle of Manila Bay did another great service; it raised our navy from a position of contempt to one of admiration, if not of fear, on the part of Europe and from that day to this the United States has been reckoned a very great factor in the politics of the world. The destruction of Cervera's squadron off Santiago served to emphasize this position, which our country owes solely to its sea power—but, as has been ably pointed out in congress, "Cuba was liberated in the orient," and had no other engagement taken place Spain would have been driven from that island. The battle of Manila Bay changed the map of the world and settled at once the policy of our country in its expansion. No matter what political cries or arguments may be used in the endeavor to break down an administration, no party will ever dare to relinquish the territory and material benefits which we gained from the results of that bright May morning. Sophists may split hairs over "continental" and "over-sea" expansion, but the future must be looked out for, and our growing population must and will have outlets for its surplus products. As Secretary Seward pointed out at the time of the Alaskan purchase, the shores of the Pacific and their teeming hordes are our future markets, and territorial posts and possessions are necessary for the proper protection and exploitation of our commerce there. In the race of the nations nothing can be gained except at great cost, and generally this embraces both blood and treasure; but the present proud position of our country was only gained through the same means by our ancestors. Why then, should we hesitate to hand down to our posterity equal advantages purchased at the same price? "Manila Bay" will always be a bright page in our history, and today the officers of Dewey's squadron take the first step to keep alive its memory by a memorial reunion and a dinner at Washington, D. C., in its commemoration at which every officer who can possibly do so will be present. Although only three years have passed, many of them have already "crossed to the other shore," carrying with them the sorrows of our people. Those who meet today have the gratitude and good will of the American people. And well they may; for history nowhere records such great and lasting gains, morally and physically, achieved at so small a cost.

The strong probabilities are that this season is going to be the most prosperous that this section has ever known, and in some ways the most trying. Every hotel in this city and in Manitou will be crowded to overflowing. Every private house that looks as if there might be a hall bedroom that could be rented will be besieged. The season is going to begin early, and from the time it does begin until the first snow flies next fall the capacities of this region will be taxed to the utmost.

N. B. Except the scenery. That will go on at the same rates. No reduction to permanent residents.

Turgot defined taxation as the art of plucking the goose without making it cry out. The revenue bill hardly comes up to the standard of the great French financier. The druggists and saloon men are raising a mighty howl over the $25 liquor tax. It does not seem to have occurred to the people of Colorado that the only way for the state to have more revenue is for them to provide it.

Yesterday was the governor's busy day. He has taken his time to signing bills, nothing having slipped through his hands without thorough examination. Whatever he had not signed or vetoed last night at midnight is now a law on its own merits.

The action of the beef trust in advancing the price of beef twenty per cent at one swoop makes one fondly remember that the season for fresh vegetables is at hand. They can't come too soon.

MRS. WILCOX AND POLITICS.

(By Ellis Meredith.)

THE individual who has achieved newspaper greatness is to be pitied. This is not accomplished by committing some crime, or getting cured of some disease, but by having written wisely and well enough so that some syndicate stands ready to pay for a daily contribution. This contribution, it is needless to say, must be "sparkling and bright." It must be learned or sensational, according to the individual, and while there need not be much of it, what there is must be made the most of by the use of "leads," a display head and other arts of the fourth estate.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox has reached this pinnacle of fame through the writing of verse of the erotic and neurotic description, and articles upon the foibles of her own sex, that can best be described by the expressive if inelegant word, "tommyrotic." Her last contribution to literature is upon "Women in Politics," and deserves to be illuminated and framed and hung up in whatsoever places women may congregate. It is a remarkable document. Nothing like it has been seen for many a long day. The keen mental grasp of her subject, the sharp analysis, and above all the logic are something to leave the reader gasping. There is only one fault to be found with it; the screed should have been called "An Election in the Society of the D— of A— R—." Mrs. Wilcox reasons by analogy entirely; like the Irishman who found one feather hard to sleep on and exclaimed, "Fwat would a whole bed av thim be!" she finds the methods in one club bad, and jumps to the conclusion that if one organization is undesirable more could only be worse. But it is only fair to let her state her own case, which she does as follows:

Recent events have convinced me that not only is woman a secret power in political circles in America, but also am I convinced how impossible it is for woman to guide, direct or manage any purely feminine institution without man's assistance.

Still further am I forced to believe that her influence is often far from good and her methods far from straightforward and open-handed.

One of the largest, and by far the most patriotic and typically American, organizations of women in the country held a meeting not many months ago in Washington, to elect a national leader.

This position incurs much work, small glory and no profit. It is a petty office, only made dignified by noble womanhood.

It is one which any woman with serious interests in life would hesitate to accept, and, having accepted the nomination, she ought to find satisfaction only in the thought that if the majority of members voted her into office she would be willing to sacrifice her time to represent the society worthily.

Yet a more disgraceful exhibition of ill-breeding, vindictiveness and petty spite, mingled with an appalling lack of high ideals and principle, was never displayed by any masculine political party, in the most heated presidential campaign than by these "ladies."

Anonymous letters insulting personalities, petty affronts, mosquito-bite persecutions, were all introduced in this female convention—a convention composed of, be it understood, women of social station, wealth and culture, from all portions of our United States.

Not satisfied with these purely feminine methods of procedure, they went still further—and employed some other measures, which savored strongly of blackmail.

Woman is at present unable to occupy gracefully and with dignity any prominent position wherein she is thrown in close business association with other women, and woman's influence over man in all public matters is often questionable in its morality.

The very fact that women of mature years, possessed of many of earth's choicest blessings could so strive for the petty position of figurehead of a woman's organization, proves that her mental powers are still in a state of evolution, and that she is about as fit to take part in the direction of national matters of real import, as a four-year-old child is fit to guide a warship into battle.

Until women can carry through the election of an officer in a silly little sex club without losing their dignity, breeding or principle, and without calling in the aid of men, they had better keep in the background regarding their equal rights to a voice in the government of nations.

The organization to which the lady refers is not one that permits political discussion—only the worst kind of political methods. She has herself denounced the unwomanly voting woman, and gloried in the fact that nothing of that kind was tolerated in the association aforesaid. They are not in politics, they don't want to be, and they would cheerfully prevent any other woman from entering the polling place if they could; therefore, their actions are to be taken as a criterion of what women in politics may be reasonably expected to do! Angels and ministers of grace!

Now if it had been the National American Woman Suffrage association that had been guilty of all these contemptible meannesses, or even the W. C. T. U., which leans largely toward a belief in a Republican form of government, based upon the consent of the governed, there would be some justification for believing that women needed a little more education before they made their advent in the political arena. If it had even been the General Federation of Women's clubs, which is the most truly representative of all the great organizations of women, it would be a little more sensible. But it isn't. There are dozens of state federations, but their elections are not marked by any of the cataclysmic conditions dilated upon by this sorrowing daughter. At the last biennial of the G. F. W. C. there was the widest possible difference of opinion on the subject of reorganization, yet nobody sent anonymous letters; there was no ill-breeding or vindictiveness, and when it was all over there was no hard feeling that one side had been defeated, and no disposition to crow on the part of the victors.

There was another remarkable thing in that convention. It was commented upon by hundreds of women, and stood for an object lesson not to be readily forgotten. The forty-two delegates from Colorado voted as a unit on all questions. They had not adopted the unit rule, but their years of political training had taught them that "United we stand, divided we fall." The votes from other states came in again and again on both sides of a question; Colorado voted on one side only. All matters of controversy had been settled before the delegation entered the convention; there was the utmost harmony and without any preconcerted plan those forty-two women stood for the same things from start to finish.

Judging from experience, the best thing that could happen to Mrs. Wilcox's back-biters would be six or seven years training at caucuses, and primaries, and in more or less turbulent conventions. When they got through they would know more of the gospel of give and take, and might rise above the pettiness of spirit that now, according to her, characterizes them. In the meantime, it is not safe to say what women will do with the ballot, by citing what they do without it. The ballot itself is the greatest educator in America today.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

Mrs. McKinley's Portrait.

Colorado Springs, Colo., April 29, 1901.
To the Editor of the Gazette:

Dear Sir—Some time ago the Gazette favored its friends with a copy of the nation's chief executive, William McKinley. At this time it seems meet to suggest that you endeavor to furnish a picture of Mrs. William McKinley as well, for every Republican woman will be pleased to see the picture of Mrs. McKinley beside that of the president.

Throughout our state, surely the women would enjoy placing such a thoroughly wholesome picture, as appeared in the Gazette Sunday, April 28, "President and Mrs. McKinley and their Canton Home," upon the walls of their homes. This picture should find a welcome, and a place from which to shed its gracious beauty, in our mansions and in our mountain cabins, wherever love establishes a home and an altar and trusts to the nation's statesmen for protection and support.

Will the Gazette arrange to make it possible that a copy may enter every home in our state that all may know an association with our president and his wife through their picture presence? And the first lady of our land could name a purpose to which she would prefer the receipts to be devoted.

Respectfully,
A Republican Woman.

Preserve the Purity of the Canons.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

The tourists are evidently here to stay and most of them are attracted by and love our wild natural scenery that lies at our very doors, in such profusion and in such startling conditions, but many of them bring with them an inborn spirit of vandalism, and while we citizens welcome all of them and profit by their coming, still when they return from their outings laden with spoils from our choicest and best loved spots, we cannot help wishing that the good Lord would rob them of some of their treasures in order to assuage our outraged feelings, and to teach them that others have a claim and a right to see nature's wonderful handiwork undefiled, as they themselves have seen it.

But the crime of the tourist vandal is nothing when compared with the vandalism of the authorities, who, under semblance of the written law, but against the law of nature, may disfigure and destroy in a day more than the tourist could in years. And while it is claimed that the scheme for the defacement and defilement of our Cheyenne canons has been abandoned—by the promoters of the toy railroad scheme, still I fear that it is not dead, but only sleepeth, and all the true lovers of these grand old canons should be constantly on guard and use their united efforts not only to prevent such schemes, but to educate the people so that no other band of catch-penny schemers will ever dare submit another such a proposition.

It may not be out of place for me to add some of the facts concerning the purchase of that part of the canons that our city owns, and if I appear in frequent connection, I beg pardon and only claim my love for the dear old canons in extenuation, for after many years they have grown to be my very dear friends. The facts are that E. P. Tenny, one of the former presidents of the Colorado college, acquired the title to that part of the canons that this city now owns, and later becoming financially involved, was compelled to secure one of his creditors by giving a trust deed on them. This trust deed and the note it secured, finally fell into the hands of the First National bank of this city of which I was a stockholder and an employe at the time. It occurred to me that this city should own the canons and I finally secured the consent of the then cashier of the bank, that if I could get the city to buy them, and pay the face of the notes, he would transfer the title to the city and throw off all the accrued interest which amounted to several hundred dollars.

My first efforts were to interest a number of our leading citizens to make a pool and take a deed from the bank to a trustee, who should hold the title until such time as the city council should see their way clear to act. My first application was by letter to Mrs. Helen Hunt Jackson, who was then in California and her reply (which I still have) spoke of her love for the canons, but also stated that she was not situated financially so as to participate in the pool and she referred me to some of her wealthy friends here, one of whom kindly wrote me that I had developed a very fine scheme to secure the bank the payment of a poor loan. Failing to receive the support from the individuals I approached on the subject, I applied to the mayor and some of the city council. They hesitated to act from lack of authority, but gave me sufficient encouragement so that I laid my plan before Captain M. L. DeCoursey, the then leading real estate dealer here, and he at once saw the great advantage it would be for the city to own the canons for a park, and through our joint efforts an election was called with the result that the council was instructed to accept the bank's offer and take the deed.

As the father of the enterprise I feel great interest in the preservation of the natural features of the canons, and feel that the peanut and popcorn artists, the toy railroad, cliff dwellers and balloon man and all other fakirs, should all be compelled to hunt other fields for their catch-penny schemes.

Against the Burros.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Now that the miniature railroad is out of the way, there is another evil that, in my opinion, ought to be abolished—the burro nuisance. Of the two, miniature railroad or burros, the last is by all odds the worst. The foul stench that arises, during the hot weather from the stable where the animals are kept is—well, I have not words strong enough to express the disgust with which I am filled. But when you are past that, and, with family and lunch baskets one starts up either canon for a picnic, one is met or followed by clouds of dust, braying asses and often profane boys who are acting as drivers. More, when one has located in a convenient place, near to water, there is an almost continuous cloud of dust made by the frequent passing of these animals.

The carriages, too, should be removed from standing near to the car line. More than once during the past summer I was compelled to take my children entirely away to avoid the profanity and obscenity of the drivers of these vehicles. Both these things are evils which should be mitigated if not abolished, and almost every objection that has been placed against the railroad can be urged against them.

The Assurance

The word "assurance" is not often used in the sense of INSURANCE. It usually signifies a declaration tending to inspire credit; a pledge furnishing ground of confidence. It is firm persuasion; entire trust; freedom from doubt. Assurance is a good word; therefore, and may be fittingly applied to a financial institution of undoubted worth and standing. Such an organization is The Assurance Savings and Loan Association. Its management is conservative. Its funds are secured by first mortgage on carefully-selected, improved real properties. Its growth has been gratifying; it has met with no reverses and caused its depositors no losses. Its securities are both safe and profitable. Call for descriptive matter at 109 E. Kiowa street.

Never Saw a Town Grow So Rapidly

This town has changed so in the past years that I hardly recognized it as the same town when I came from the [illegible] this afternoon," said a tall, [illegible] man whose appearance bespoke prosperity from the crown of his gray fedora to the tip of his [illegible] leather boots. To the inquisitive stranger the gentleman introduced himself as J. C. Moore, president of the Grand Rapids Furniture company, but now retired and living on the generous [illegible] accumulated during a successful business career.

"Ten years ago Colorado Springs was a demure little burg where one could come for rest and quiet, but now it is really quite a city, with fine big business blocks and all other metropolitan improvements. I never saw a town grow so rapidly, and it certainly speaks much for the future of this city."

Mr. Moore is on route from California, but will remain here some time. He is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Lillie Moore, and Mrs. Lois Leetch of Ypsilanti, Mich. They have apartments at the Spaulding house.

School Population Is Now Six Thousand

The estimate made a few weeks ago as to how many names would be included in the school census of this district was a conservative one. The census was completed yesterday and shows an increase of almost 15 per cent. over last year's census. The number of names taken will exceed 6,000, while last year there were only about 5,200 names. According to the new revenue law each school district is entitled to receive [illegible] per capita from the county for each person enrolled in the school census.

This means a great deal more money for the district treasury than was received last year as the rate at that time was only $1.49 per capita.

The census has been taken by James Sykes, John Williams and J. E. Cribbs, under the supervision of O. E. Collins, secretary of the school board and is very complete. While the number of names enrolled has not been officially counted as yet the above estimate is approximately correct and the board is well satisfied with the way in which the census has been taken.

Mining Men Cannot Learn From Mexico

John [illegible] Judd, manager of the Victoria Mines company of Guanajuato, Mexico, is stopping for a short time at the Alta Vista, en route to New York. He is, naturally, well posted on mining methods in that country where mining operations have been carried on for centuries, but is not of the opinion that experience has brought wisdom.

"Mexico," said Mr. Judd, "is hundreds of years behind the rest of the world in the method of its mining, but as nearly all the larger mines are owned and operated by Americans, the disadvantage to the progress of the country are not so extensive as they might be. The methods that are in vogue in Mexico are primitive to the point of being ridiculous," continued Mr. Judd. "As an instance, the sulphur mines in the crater of Popocatapetl are probably the largest in the world, and the supply is practically exhaustless. The descent into the sulphur beds is almost perpendicular, and the way the men go into the mines would be capital sport for small boys. The descent is an inclined plane worn as smooth as a polished mirror, and down this the men slide—whish, and they are down, hundreds of feet, so quick that it makes one dizzy to watch them. Three or four men crowd on a piece of raw-hide, and off they go.

"Going up, though, makes up for any speed which they may have acquired already.

"After filling large sacks with sulphur, the men slowly toil up the crater by a long circuitous route. That is all there is to mining in the largest sulphur mine in the world. The purity of the crude sulphur there is higher than the refined sulphur elsewhere.

"Labor is so cheap that Mexicans do not care to be bothered with the intricate responsibility of machinery. Moreover, any sort of labor-saving device would be very unpopular with the natives, for what would they do for a living were competition increased?

"Mexicans are happy people, nevertheless, far more so than the restless, ambitious Yankee across the border. Their wants are few and a discontented Mexican is an oddity among them."

Frank Smith Wants Courts to Save Him

In a suit for $25,000 damages, filed yesterday in the district court Frank Smith gives an interesting account of the way he alleges two brokers promised to manipulate the local stock market. The defendants are F. H. Pettingell and R. P. Davie, with whom the plaintiff claims to have had an agreement for the disposal of 218,000 shares of mining stock.

Last October Smith owned 218,000 shares of capital stock of the Pythias Mining company. In the complaint he says the defendants proposed that if he would sell them 48,000 shares of the stock at 1½ cents a share they would manipulate the Pythias stock on the Colorado Springs exchanges that would advance to 10 cents a share. At that time the stock was selling at [illegible] cents. It was also agreed, the plaintiff alleges, that the remaining 170,000 shares were to be placed in a pool and sold only by the defendant brokers.

At that time the plaintiff owed George [illegible] $5,000, and had given his stock as security. The indebtedness was transferred to the brokers and their proposition was accepted, Smith gave a note to the brokers for the $5,000, payable in six months.

The Pythias stock was put to 6½ cents and Smith says the brokers held the stock and sold other they had bought elsewhere, taking the profit. Now, he alleges, the defendants threaten to sell 100,000 shares of his stock to force payment on the note he gave them. He demands $25,000 damages and an injunction restraining the brokers from selling his stock.

Judge Cunningham overruled the defendant's demurrer in the case of the Magna Charta Mining and Milling Co. vs. C. A. Pollen, county treasurer. The argument was resumed yesterday and a decision was given in the afternoon. The company seeks to compel the treasurer to issue a redemption certificate for property sold for taxes in the Cripple Creek mining district before Teller county was formed.

An alias summons was issued on the case of the Menlo Trading company vs. the Bassick Gold Mine company.

After being married for 28 years Mrs. Hannah Hock wants a divorce from her husband, George Hock. She filed an amended complaint in the district court yesterday. They were married in Missouri in April, 1873, and have one son over 21 years old.

In the county court Hattie Clifford was adjudged mentally unbalanced and unable to care for her property. Geo. Elston was appointed conservator and required to give a $10,000 bond.

Judgment for $1,450 was given for the plaintiff in the case of the Shields-Morley Grocery company vs W. J. Vickers, execution to issue.

Henry Penick declared a drunkard, was ordered sent to the Borton cure at Pueblo, at the county's cost.

Liberty and Rabbits Now and Forever

"During the past three months the constitution of Australia has been so amended that now it is in every way as liberal as that of the United States." With the dust of Melbourne still on his very English looking shoes the speaker looked down at himself with complacent satisfaction as if he had uttered an [illegible] joy to all mankind. The Englishman was J. R. Rippin of Melbourne, Australia, who, with his wife, is on his way "home"—home being old England, although he had resided for over 20 years in Australia.

"The colonies are now federated, just as the states are, and by May 6, when the duke of York will arrive at Melbourne to sign the commonwealth papers, we will have a lower house, called the house of representatives, and a senate, apportioned after the manner in vogue under your Constitution. It's the greatest step in progress that has ever been experienced by any of England's colonies.

"How did it come about?" you say. "Well, it will seem odd to you, but the Boer war was directly responsible for it. You see when the war began, all the world predicted that the colonies would desert England in her time of great need, but just the reverse has occurred. Why, in my colony alone, we sent 14,000 men, and the same loyalty has been shown everywhere.

"The leading men in Australia have been agitating for this constitution for years but the Boer war decided it for us. England found that she could trust us and this is the reward for our loyalty.

"May 6, when the constitution will be ratified, will be a glorious day for all Australia and New Zealand. The colonies now have free trade among themselves and protection against all the rest of the world, just as the states have.

"All of the Australian colonies are experiencing unusual prosperity this year but the ravages of that awful pest, the common rabbit, are menacing the agricultural districts worse than ever.

"Outside of Australia it is hard to make anyone believe what awful damage these little animals can inflict. Many, many families have been utterly ruined by them, and millions of pounds have been spent by the government in the endeavor to exterminate them, but so far it has been unavailing. We now have a system of trapping that seems very efficacious. Last year many thousands of rabbits were shipped to England and sold there in the markets of Glasgow, Manchester, Edinburgh, London and even on the continent, and although we get a very small price for them, the revenue derived from the sale was over $500,000. Then it's great sport, too, to join a crowd on a big rabbit hunt, and the fun is enough compensation."

These Laborers Were Struck Out

A dozen laborers employed at the Colorado Electric company's new plant did not wait for the 5 o'clock whistle to blow Monday evening before they quit work. They struck for an increase of wages and were all discharged.

Mr. A. G. Taff, superintendent of the company, said yesterday that as far as the company is concerned the dispute is at an end. New workmen will be employed to take the strikers' places.

The men were working for 20 and 25 cents an hour. They demanded an increase of five cents an hour. Mr. Taff was notified and through him the company refused to grant the increase. It is said the men were getting union wages. They were employed to clear away debris from about the new plant and to unload machinery and haul coal.

The students of Colorado college held a rousing mass meeting yesterday to discuss matters pertaining to the coming debate between Colorado college and the University of Nebraska, which takes place Friday evening.

J. L. Cross, president of the local debating association, officiated as chairman of the meeting, and in a short speech showed the need for a hearty support of the association and the debate, on the part of the whole student body of the local institution. Short speeches were made by President Slocum, Professor Cajori, and by Griffith, Bastall and Weiser, the debaters for Colorado college. The spirit of enthusiasm was high throughout the meeting and yells and cheers for the young men who will meet the Nebraskans on the platform were frequent and rousing.

The students also practiced one or two Nebraska yells for the encouragement of the visitors and to promulgate the spirit of good feeling which is already strong between the two institutions. Committees on decorations, receptions, etc., were appointed.

Tickets for the debate were placed on sale yesterday morning at the store of the Hext Music Co. They may be had also at Coburn library. General admission, including reserved seat, has been placed at 50 cents and the first day's sale indicates that there will be a large attendance.

CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE ARE ASKED FOR DETAILS

The meeting of the executive committee of the Quarto-centennial celebration held yesterday afternoon at the chamber of commerce, was devoted to a discussion of the plans for getting the celebration started. Mr. John G. Shields, who is ex-officio chairman of all committees, is out of the city at the present time, but will return in three or four days when all committees will be started vigorously at work.

Mr. Shields has been in California for some time but is one of the most active workers that the city has for anything that involves the interests of the community, and the centennial preparations will move along at a rapid rate when he returns.

Assurances of support from towns in all sections of the state continue to come and inquiries as to the details of the celebration are beginning to be asked for. The committees will have to decide on these matters definitely within a very short time in order to enable the local committees in other places to get to work.

MARY HAD THE MONEY BUT LIKES JAIL LIFE

Judge Boatright had another big batch of offenders before him in police court yesterday morning. It was a varied assortment of drunks and vags. "Irish Mary" got a fine of $25 and costs, and although she said she had the money she preferred to serve out her time in jail. Mat Moore was drunk and inclined to be troublesome. He "paralyzed" a man at the D. & R. G. depot before Officer Bennett and the patrol wagon got him to jail. Yesterday morning the judge paralyzed Mat with a fine of $50 and costs. Mat is now thinking it over in jail.

The other offenders were fined in various sums and most of them were ordered out of town.

MR. COLLAIS DENIES VARIOUS RUMORS

Colorado Springs, April 30.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Dear Sir—I wish to make a statement through your columns concerning rumors that are afloat, seemingly to injure my candidacy. It is reported to me that the public school teachers have been told that if I am elected to be a member of the school board I shall be in favor of reducing the salaries of the teachers and janitors. It is absolutely and unqualifiedly false. Not a word has passed between any one and myself on the subject and anyone who is originating and circulating such falsehoods is doing it with malicious purpose. It has also been circulated that I am in favor of dismissing certain teachers from the service. I have made no such statements to anyone, nor has anyone asked a pledge from me.

Yours very truly,
Chas. O. Collais.

THE HYDROPHOBIA DANGER IS OVER

Dr. W. W. Reasoner has received a letter from Dr. R. O. Fenton, the veterinary surgeon who recently went to the Pasteur institute in Chicago to be treated for a bite from a mad dog in this city. Dr. Fenton's wound was made worse by poor cauterizing, but he is doing nicely and no serious effects are expected.

Dr. Fenton took with him to Chicago parts of the brains of one of the mad dogs and of a horse which had been bitten by one of the dogs. An examination of the brains showed unmistakable evidences of rabies in both animals.

Both dogs which caused the scare a short time ago are dead now and the horse which developed hydrophobia, having presumably been bitten by one of the dogs, also died. No cases of hydrophobia are now reported in the city and the danger is thought to be past.

Mr. L. W. Atkinson, whose little girl was bitten, has received word from the Pasteur institute that the child is getting along nicely, but she arrived there just in time to save her life.

Mr. A. F. McFarland, the blacksmith who was bitten by his horse, which later died, is not suffering any bad effects from the bite and his wound is healing nicely.

A NEW OIL FIELD

Oregon People Securing Property in Archuleta County.

Oil Lands, Where the Crude Product Shows Heavy Illuminating Qualities, Is Being Quietly Secured.

During the past few weeks much has been said regarding the oil indications in the eastern portion of Archuleta county on the Navajo river near Chromo and Edith.

For over five years hardly a month has passed without its excitement over oil in this district, but heretofore nothing definite has been accomplished because of the out-of-the-way location and the small knowledge the outside world had of the country. Now, however, Oregon parties are in here and are quietly securing all the available territory possible. They have organized a company with a capitalization of $1,500,000 to handle and develop these oil lands and are gathering them in rapidly though quietly. Tests of the crude product taken from these lands show 58 per cent. illuminating quality. It seems strange that some of our Colorado capitalists have not taken up this country rather than other sections remote from railway facilities and showing less valuable oils. Colorado Springs capital is interested in every other good oil territory and should be in this while there is still an opportunity to secure lands at low prices. The railroad of the New Mexico Lumber company runs into this oil territory, so that adequate transportation facilities are an assured fact. This lumber concern has the finest equipment in its saw and planing mills to be found in the entire Rocky Mountain region and employs 200 men. The altitude of the county is 7,000 feet. Indications are that this whole section which is reached through Lumberton, N. M., on the D. & R. G. Ry., is on the verge of a great boom. Heretofore this country has been noted mostly for its sheep raising. Immense herds of them are found in the mountains and seem in most excellent shape.

The stock industry, however, will probably now take second place while the oil industry with its rapid and great profits, will draw national attention to the locality.

THOMPSON VEIN CUT IN ELKTON FIFTH LEVEL SOUTH

It Measures 11 Feet in Width and Assays Taken From the Entire Width Vary From $7 to $50---Good Stoping Ground.

The Thompson vein has just been cut in the Elkton mine in the fifth level south, for the first time since this property came into the possession of the company. The strike was made some time ago, and since that time although the present management has given out some information about the water, they have suppressed all news of this very salutary development. This information now comes from the manager of the mine, and is perfectly reliable.

The vein at this depth is 11 feet wide, and assays taken across the entire breast run from $7 and $50 in gold to the ton. The vein has never been cut below the 400 foot level in the formation, and at that depth it was very productive, carrying ore which averaged between $20 and $75 in gold to the ton. While it is not known how long the shoot in the fifth level will prove to be, there is 100 feet of stoping ground immediately available, and as the length of this vein in Elkton grounds is very great, there is a chance for opening one of the big ore bodies of the mine.

The water situation remains about the same, with the two pumps making some gain. It is thought best, however, to go ahead and place the additional pumps to make sure of beating the flow.

APRIL OUTPUT

The Acknowledged Worst Month in the Year Scored Total of $2,031,500--Mint Company's Work on Keystone Shaft.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, April 30.—The output of the Cripple Creek district for the month of April amounts to 42,100 tons of ore, valued at $2,031,500. The production record is a slight falling off from that of March, accounted for by the stormy weather in the early part of the month. The production up to date since the discovery of the camp amounts to $109,312,210. The National and El Paso plants at Florence still remain closed, the labor trouble having not yet been settled, and the Economic mill in Eclipse gulch commences regular operations tomorrow morning. Considering the impassibility of the wagon roads during a part of the month the record is not a poor one, as it represents the output of the camp in the worst month of the year. The total, in figures as furnished by the different reduction plants is as follows:

Plant.	Tons.	Value.	Total.
Colo-Phila	2,500	$24.00	$ 216,000
Standard	9,500	33.00	313,500
Metallic	6,500	20.00	130,000
Dorcas	2,100	20.00	42,000
Union	4,000	25.00	100,000
Smelter	18,000	65.00	1,170,000
Miscellaneous	....	....	60,000
Total	42,100	....	$2,031,500

Keystone.

The Mint company is now working three shifts of men in the Keystone shaft on Gold hill. The shaft is being sunk from the 575-foot level. It will go several hundred feet deeper, and at the same time shipments may be looked for to commence at any day. It is said that the Mint company has as fine a shoot of ore as can be found on the hill. The new, large ore house which has been built is already for the reception of ore, and it is not unlikely that as soon as the spur is put in from the short line all the hoisting from the Pointer and Mint properties will be done through the Keystone shaft. The shaft is well located to develop the surrounding properties, consisting of the Union Bell, Mollie Dwyer and Quito companies, should the occasion to consolidate these Foxy interests arise.

Although the Red Spruce company has about five tons of ore in the bins no attempt is being made at present at production. The shaft has reached the 200-foot level, and is being rapidly sunk to the objective point, the 300-foot depth. In the 160-foot level of the property the vein has been drifted on to the north for a distance of 150 feet and some of the parties interested in the work are of the opinion that the vein is the extension of the Midget, or one lying closely parallel.

Vein in the Eureka.

Doyle & Edson, leasing the Eureka claim of the Reward company, on Galena hill, to the north of the Sunshine and Sedan properties, are reported to have cut a good-sized vein at a depth of 70 feet. The vein is like the Sedan in character, but as there is a net work of these veins of similar appearance running north and south through the hill it cannot be positively stated that it is the Sunshine lead.

The strike in the 320-foot level of the Eclipse company's property is gaining larger proportions with each day's work. The new ore shoot now shows fully six feet wide in the upraise and a four-inch streak of decomposed matter has come in assaying $56,000 to the ton. A small streak alongside of this high grade stringer runs $2,000 to the ton. The work of proving up the ore shoot is progressing steadily, and the management is of the opinion that a still larger ore body is to be opened up. Instead of following one of the walls of the vein, as is generally the case, the high grade streak lies almost exactly in the center.

Coriolanus.

The Coriolanus company has, after 400 feet of crosscutting north at the 200-foot level of the property, opened the Ajax vein, which shows four feet of ore going as high as $400 to the ton. The shoot at this depth lies alongside of an immense dike, and the indications are good for a large body of ore, by tapping the vein at this depth the company has gained 150 feet of sloping ground.

The third single pump to be put in use at the Elkton mine was installed at the 400-foot station today. The pump, which is of 1,000 gallon per minute capacity, was made by the Prescott Steam Pump Co. of Milwaukee, which sent an engineer out here to personally look after the pumps and see that they give satisfaction. In the meantime the development work in the property is going on above the sixth level without interruption.

A PROPOSED BROMINE PLANT

To be Erected by the American Stoker Company at Colorado City For the Treatment of Low Grade Cripple Creek Ores.

C. P. Overfield, western manager for the American Stoker company, was in the city yesterday and stated that his company was considering the erection of a bromination plant in Colorado City to treat Cripple Creek ores. No plans have yet been perfected, but Mr. Overfield is enthusiastic over the possibilities of such a plant to treat the ore from Cripple Creek, and is urging the project with the American Stoker people.

"The bromine process," said Mr. Overfield yesterday, "is one of the latest chemical processes to treat the lower grade ores to meet with success, and from actual experiments we have ascertained that it is especially successful with the ores of Cripple Creek. Ore that is worth but $9 or $10 in gold to the ton can be treated at a profit by this process, and, with the great deposits of this grade of ore in Cripple Creek which has lain unmined awaiting the discovery of some low-grade process, we thing that a mill located in Colorado City, which is conveniently situated as far as water and transportation facilities are concerned, should be a very profitable investment."

It was understood, however, that nothing is yet settled, and that the Colorado City site is only one of those which are being considered for the proposed mill. Prominent investors, both local and eastern, are in favor of erecting a large plant in Colorado City, and it may be that something will be done in the matter.

CONDITION OF CHAMPION

The Lessees Will Soon Crosscut From the 210-Foot Level, Just Reached, for Two Veins Opened 100 Feet Above.

Word was received yesterday at the offices of the Champion company in this city of the exact state of affairs in the property of the company, worked under lease by the Pickwick lessees.

The lessees have just completed their shaft to a depth of 210 feet and are now cutting a station at that depth, after the completion of which they will resume sinking for another 100 foot level, and also begin crosscutting in two ways for two veins which were cut in the 310-foot level.

It is in the latter level where the good indications have been found which gave rise to the various reports of a strike in the property. The lessees have very good indications of ore in each vein, having obtained good assays from several places in the course of the work which they have done, but it is not known positively whether either of the leads comes out of the Thompson or not.

It is thought that with the depth now attained good ore will be found in these veins, and all possible haste is to be made in crosscutting to them. No time is to be lost, either, in sinking for the new lift, as the lessees are confident of opening of ore on the property. Another shift has just been put to work.

RICH GOLD DOLLAR STRIKE

Streak of Six Inches in a Vein Just Cut in the Bottom Level Assays As High As $3,600 in Gold to the Ton.

It is learned on reliable authority that an extremely rich strike has been made in the new 400-foot level in the Gold Dollar mine on Beacon hill. In the crosscut north one of the veins which was mined above has just been cut and found to be fully as wide as it was in the upper levels, about four feet, and at the point of intersection carries a six-inch streak of ore which assays as high as $3,600 in gold to the ton. It is reported to be alive with sylvanite. Development is still backing, but the present showing is extremely encouraging.

In the drift in the other part of the level in the vein which has been cut, the character of the rock in the breast is changing, and the shoot is expected to be encountered at any time. The mine is showing up very well in all parts, and a large amount of development work is being carried on in the upper portion of the mine, while the output is averaging about the same.

The stock was very active and strong yesterday, closing at 19¼, which is 1¼ cents above the opening in the morning.

TICKERS FOR THE EXCHANGE

Quotations Can Be Sent East and West if the Brokers Will Contract for Enough Machines.

The brokers and mining men of Colorado Springs, and especially the members of the Colorado Mining Stock association, are now in the position where they can obtain a ticker service for Colorado Springs and get the quotations of our stocks run over 700 machines in the big eastern cities.

Arrangements for this service have been all made between the officials of the exchange and the agent for the ticker company, Mr. J. E. Walsh, and it remains only for the brokers to sign their name for enough tickers for the service to be inaugurated.

The ticker service, which it is proposed to put in is controlled by the Printing Telegraph News company, who use the Exnick Page printer. This machine does not use the long tape, but a roll of paper four inches wide upon which five or six words to the line appear in plain type. The machines placed in the east number over 700 and are in the cities of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and St. Louis, and are found in the brokers' offices, hotels, bars and prominent buildings. Over each of these the daily quotations of the Colorado Springs Mining Stock association will run, together with comments and gossip upon the mines and market.

To insure this service a minimum of 20 machines must be contracted for. It is understood that half this amount have already been applied for and it is thought that now the matter is practically settled that there will be little delay in securing the remainder. The rate for the machines will be $25 per month and it is possible that the local service may be extended to Denver and Pueblo where there is a good demand for Colorado Springs quotations by wire.

With the inauguration of the service the company will have an operator upon the floor of the exchange whose sole duty it will be to send the quotations to the ticker.

LEON STRIKE IS SHOWING UP WELL

The strike in the property of the Leon Consolidated company is still showing up well, a streak of ore eight inches wide now averaging about $8 in gold to the ton, although some assays much higher values are obtained from time to time. Drifting is being pushed rapidly for a dike which is expected to be encountered in about 10 feet.

The lessees have begun to save ore, and have now erected a platform to serve until they can get an ore bin constructed. They expect to be able to get out a moderate sized shipment in a reasonable time.

The strike was made in a drift from the 50-foot level, after a connection was made with an old shaft on the property, and the dike for which the drifting is directed is an entirely different one from that on which the new shaft was put down. It is expected that a good body of ore will be encountered as soon as the dike is reached.

The property is being worked by Day & Pherson as lessees, who share the lease with the company.

MINING NOTES AROUND TOWN

Conservative and carefully prepared figures for the output of Cripple Creek for the month of April place the production slightly over $6,000,000, which is somewhat of a disappointment to those who anticipated that it would be higher. The exact figures, as obtained from the various mills and the smelters yesterday, will be found in another column. It is an encouraging commentary on the strides which Cripple Creek is making, however, to see that in April, 1900, the production was only 33,800 tons, of which the cash value was $1,315,500. The production during April has always been slightly decreased owing to the trouble experienced with snow, bad roads, poor ventilation and surface water, which comes at this season of the year.

ST. THOMAS GRANTS LEASE ON MAIN SHAFT.

The St. Thomas Gold Mining company has leased its main workings to Murphy and associates, well-known lessees of Cripple Creek, who are prepared to go ahead and prosecute good work. The stipulations of the lease require that 100 feet of sinking shall be accomplished at once, and that when ore is encountered it shall yield a net royalty of 25 per cent to the company. The shaft is now down 400 feet, at which depth the company got into some ore, but it was evident that greater depth was needed, and work was suspended. Instead of doing this sinking themselves, the company has thought it better to lease the whole thing. The lessees will be required to do the sinking before searching for any ore at the present depth. There are two veins in the property coming in from the Mabel M., which will undoubtedly prove productive after the required amount of development has been done.

PIKES PEAK POWER PLANT IN OPERATION.

After a year of preparation the Pike's Peak Power plant has at last passed out of its swaddling clothes, and is now in full operation, the water having been turned on yesterday which starts the immense generators of 2,200-horse power. The current is carried to the distributing station in Victor, and is then used not only for lighting purposes in the different sections of the district, but for operating machinery in the many properties in which the Woods Investment company, promoters of the power company, are interested. A compressor will be run on the Major M., an electric hoist in the Trail and one on the May Bell of the C. C. G. Exploration, the trolley line will be operated in the Columbine-Victor tunnel and various other applications of the power will be made. The plant receives an immense flow of water by a pipe line brought down from Upper Beaver creek, five miles distant. The flow is sufficient to generate 4,200 horse power; and by re-collecting the water and conveying it further down the creek, it could again be utilized as power.

SHIPMENTS FROM THE SANTA RITA PROPERTY.

The Atlantis Mines corporation, operating the Santa Rita property on Squaw mountain, is maintaining a good production of both low and high-grade ore from their 600-foot level which has now been extended for a considerable distance. A shipment of 40 tons of the low-grade rock has just been made, which is expected to run between $40 and $50 in gold to the ton, and some of the higher grade is just ready to be marketed. The latter is coming from a rich streak in the 600-foot level, and runs as high as $200 in gold to the ton in large lots. Altogether the property is living up to the promise which it made at the time when ore was first encountered.

CRISSCUTTING ON THE BOB LEE PROPERTY.

Crosscutting has been started from the bottom of the new 300-foot shaft on the property of the Bob Lee company on Tenderfoot hill. The shaft has now been entirely timbered, the station cut out and the sump sunk, and the work of crosscutting will be pushed in each direction as rapidly as possible. It is the aim of the management to thoroughly explore the ground, not only for the extension of the Hoosier vein, but for other dikes and leads which have been encountered in shallow shafts put down on the ground. It is not expected that anything of importance will be opened within 100 feet, although a good find is likely to be made at any time.

EASTERN MARKETS

New York, April 30—There is no precedent by which to judge of the [illegible] of the extraordinary present stock market. Each day of trading has some feature to recall the [illegible] not infrequently all previous records go by the board as a result of a day's business. The aggregate sales of all stocks today went ahead of yesterday's [illegible] thereto unprecedented total rising to 3,200,000 shares. Last Wednesday's record of sales of a single stock were 600,000 shares for Union Pacific compared with today's sales of 470,000 shares of United States Steel. The aggregate sales of both the common and preferred stock of United States Steel amounted today to 618,000 shares. Another record was clipped today for a single hour's business sales for the first hour amounting to over a million shares against the previous maximum of less than 500,000 shares. It is the usual rule that a large portion of the day's business on the exchange is done during the first hour but half the activity of the market for the rest of the day continued in normal proportion to the first hour's business the total for the day would have reached probably 4,000,000 shares which would mean commissions to stock exchange members for the day's business of a $1,000,000. Such statistics as these convey the truest idea of the dimensions and scope of the present market. Any attempt at description would resolve itself largely into an accumulation of superlatives. There were long strings of successive transactions in some of the most active stocks today in which none of the sales reported were less than 100 shares and running from that up to 10,000 shares.

If any ordinary consideration could be the rule in such a market the fact that the stocks were notably strong yesterday are today sold in enormous volume to take profits would have had great influence. The sharp break at many points in the closing dealings would have been another factor making for hesitation but these usual symptoms of a coming reaction have been so often without the slightest effect in the recent extraordinary market that they were totally ignored by the excited speculators as many other incidents have been such as the engagements of gold for export and the casion al hard[illegible] of the money market. The [illegible] in great force of a widespread public interest in the market must explain this ignoring of all technical conditions. The great accumulations of wealth which have come to the hands of [illegible] in the [illegible] years [illegible] have left [illegible] posit banks waiting for opportunity for outlay seemed to be pouring into Wall street attracted by the sudden great fortunes which are being made from day to day in the great price movement of different stocks. The large inflow of money from the interior of New York seems to be [illegible] to this tendency and is keeping the money market easy in spite of the demand from other sources. There is very little in the way of specific news accompanying the rise in prices. The announcement this morning of the absorption of the Leyland steamship line by J. P. Morgan had a tendency to give a renewed stimulus to the speculation as indicating the continued activity of the most important [illegible] in the recent great movements [illegible] The belief [illegible] of railroad consolidation of great railroad systems even if the [illegible] involved in the buying of control in the open market is the [illegible] in the general speculation [illegible] indefinitely.

[illegible] in prices against [illegible] market turned within [illegible] share [illegible] outstanding [illegible] rates [illegible] to buy [illegible] it is certainly [illegible] that a turnover of the amount of stock where the [illegible] control [illegible] is proof positive [illegible] the amount of liquidation [illegible] active [illegible] buying [illegible] selling and they are buying [illegible] cover of speculative holdings [illegible] on every [illegible] and then [illegible] to cover as the further advance imperils the position of the bears. That such [illegible] largely [illegible] for a [illegible] is [illegible] doubted. An analysis in detail of today's market would be of little so great is its extent and variety and [illegible] Northern Pacific was [illegible] prominent [illegible] the gains [illegible] as the [illegible] progressed. The Atchison [illegible] strong [illegible] the [illegible] New York Central [illegible] attention [illegible] United States Steel [illegible] comparatively [illegible] with net gains of 2½ for the common and 1½ for the preferred [illegible] reaction of 1¼ and 1 respectively from the best price.

Chicago Grain and Provisions

Chicago, April 30—Speculative markets on change inclined to dullness today. Wheat closed [illegible] to [illegible] lower, corn [illegible] to [illegible] higher, oats unchanged to [illegible] up and provisions without material change.

The market opened weak under depressions caused for both spot and future. Advices from the continent were that a great deal of wheat bought within the last few days was offered for resale. The bear situation was of brief duration however. [illegible] the world's visible supply of 3,300,000 bushels and the renewal of a sharp cash demand [illegible] later heavy profit taking caused a reaction at the close. During the last half hour the [illegible] was largely from the short interest while it had been made by reports of [illegible] Ohio and a revival of a [illegible] cash demand. Many bulls who had sold out by hear [illegible] reinstated some of their lines.

Corn opened weak on good weather, liberal country offerings, lower cables and in sympathy with wheat. The local bull element was the sole support of the market.

The oats market opened easy on liberal receipts and good weather and in sympathy with corn. A fair demand sprang up and this together with sympathy with the later corn strength caused a reaction.

Provisions were neglected but nominally steady.

The leading futures ranged as follows:

London Market

New York, April 30—Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram:

Business on the stock exchange here was cheerful today. In consols the settlement was expected to disclose a bear account of the new issue but the contango on this was [illegible] instead of [illegible] looked for. The American department was the center of interest again and was worth watching. Prices were buoyant from start to finish rising [illegible] because though there was heavy profit taking especially in Northern Pacific. The buying of Union Pacific was good and Southern Pacific rose in sympathy. It is the fashion to buy high priced stocks, the low priced issues are neglected. New York buying started at Atchison which however soon became the feature here on a renewal of the report and denial that the dividend on the common was to be the rate of 4 per cent. The preferred boomed to 103[illegible], the common 58. Money was steady at unchanged rates. Ten thousand pounds gold is going out to South America. Silver relapsed on profit taking.

Denver Produce

Denver, April 30—Market quiet and little change in price to note. The only feature to the market was a 1 cent drop in butter due principally to the decline in Elgin yesterday. The butter market is in good shape. Lower prices are making a better demand and with the light supply of stock on hand the market rules reasonably strong at the decline. Poultry and eggs are quiet with the market about steady at prevailing prices. California cherries are now in good supply but move slowly on account of the high prices. The strawberry trade is good at steady prices. The supply is increasing right along.

PRELIMINARY TO RAISING THE WIND

Seventeen Deputy County Assessors Will Start Out Today—Features of the New Law.

Seventeen deputy county assessors will start out today to assess the value of all property [illegible] in this county. They will ask every property [illegible] questions and any one who refuses [illegible] will be cited into court and compelled to [illegible] The assessment which begins today is the first under the new [illegible] law and [illegible] of the assessors will probably be [illegible] that of the old [illegible] that additional deputies may have to be employed to complete the work before time [illegible] the limit fixed by law.

The principal feature of the [illegible] new law is that all property is assessed at its full market value [illegible] [illegible] the new valuation of property in this county is expected to reach over $40,000,000 [illegible] was only $13,000,000. The taxes are not likely to be very much higher this year [illegible] the county [illegible] levies will be reduced in a corresponding proportion as the assessed value has been increased. The levy [illegible] will be slightly increased.

In Colorado Springs this year the street railway companies will be assessed [illegible] the county assessor instead of the state board of equalization. Last year this board assessed the Rapid Transit company's property at $100,000 [illegible] afterwards sold for $[illegible]. This year it will be assessed at its full [illegible] The state board of assessors under the new law will assess the railroads which operate in more than one county.

County Assessor Hayden received a [illegible] of the new law [illegible] and the blanks [illegible] be left with all property holders to be filled out.

Woman Led Retainers In a Lively Attack

About three years ago the Hockl[illegible] are said to have purchased the house [illegible] street from Miss Massey. The litigation was begun soon after [illegible] payment. Suits [illegible] taken [illegible] the [illegible] were [illegible] until yesterday [illegible] Miss Massey with her brother T. B. Massey, Robert Coulter, Fred Meisenbach and another man [illegible] upon the premises.

[illegible] fled and the Massey [illegible] took possession. Then the Hockl[illegible] had four of the Massey party arrested [illegible] taken before Justice of the Peace [illegible] postponed [illegible] hearing until next Tuesday. Miss Massey caused the arrest of the Hockl[illegible] who were bound over by Justice Ruby for a hearing on May 6 [illegible] charged with disturbance.

Late in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Hockl[illegible] secured a temporary injunction in the district court restraining Miss Massey from selling the property in question. The complaint stated that Miss Massey secured possession by force of arms.

Visiting Odd Fellows Entertained All Day

They saw all the points of interest, and the day was brought to a close by an informal reception to the Grand Sire and his wife and daughter at the Alamo hotel.

The visitors arrived in this city in the morning. The grand officers were escorted by the Cripple Creek and local delegations which had attended the eighty second anniversary celebration in Denver of the founding of the order [illegible] In the day they [illegible] through the Garden of the Gods and Manitou, and in the afternoon [illegible] of the [illegible] up Pikes Peak on the cog road. The reception [illegible] given by the members of [illegible] lodge No. [illegible] and Monte Rosa No. [illegible] Rebekahs. It was held in the hotel parlors and was entirely informal. Grand Sire Cable made a short address.

The guests will leave at [illegible] o'clock this morning over the Short Line for Cripple Creek, where they will be entertained today. Among the party are G[illegible] and Secretary J. M. [illegible] of Denver, H. A. McCreery, [illegible] D. Fox, Charles [illegible] Charles Meadows, George J. Wetherell and others.

RECEPTION TO DAY A GREAT SUCCESS

The Home of Mr. Warren Woods Was a Scene of Beauty.

SECRETARY LONG SPOKE

Addresses by Business Men on Work of the Association—Mr. Long's Address on Work in the Navy

The home of Mr. Warren Woods on Wood avenue was the scene last night of one of the most successful receptions ever held in this city. It was a reception of welcome to the new general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. W. H. Day, and his wife and was a success in more ways than one. Secretary of the Navy John D. Long was present and made a speech. Dainty refreshments were served after the speech making. The house was ablaze with lights. The soft strains of mandolins and guitars came from a balcony overhead and every one got acquainted with his neighbor. In fact, the affair was all and even more than was expected of it.

After the guests had gathered Theo. [illegible] Day, former general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., called for order and in a few remarks introduced Mr. Warren Woods, president of the association, who presided during the evening.

The first speaker was Mr. Bert Scribner, one of the directors of the association. Mr. Scribner spoke of the benefits of the Y. M. C. A. for the young man's standpoint. He made a fine talk.

Mr. Charles P. B[illegible] spoke on the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. from the business man's standpoint. He dealt with his subject in a masterly manner and showed himself to be conversant with it.

Secretary Long was then introduced by Mr. Woods. He spoke of the general work of the Y. M. C. A. in the navy and elsewhere and told of its many benefits to the young man. Secretary Long spoke of the [illegible] which associations have upon the life of a young man. Especially is this true in the navy where the young man sees more phases of life of all kinds. The secretary told of the aid [illegible] has been rendered to the navy Y. M. C. A. by Miss Helen Gould. She gave $1,000 to the Brooklyn navy yard Y. M. C. A. and has shown her generosity [illegible] hundreds of other places. The speaker touched the sympathetic side of the subject and closed by reminding his hearers of the universality of the Y. M. C. A. The address was an excellent one and was greatly appreciated by those who heard it.

Mr. W. H. Day then expressed his thanks and appreciation of the efforts made in his behalf. He expressed the [illegible] new building along both with their purses and their good will.

"SAG HARBOR"

Once there was a man hurt in a railroad wreck and he felt that he was in a critical condition and asked to see a certain friend. His friend came and as soon as he saw him said: "John, I once knew a man hurt just exactly as you are, and he died."

There was something somewhat like this in the presentation of "Sag Harbor" last night, only instead of an actual railroad wreck it was a threatened domestic wreck and instead of talking as the friend of the injured man referred to talked Captain Dan Marble said:

"Once there was a family named Smith."

And the story of the Smith family and the Jones family and the Brown family [illegible] Marble [illegible] all the disturbing [illegible] turbulent waters and brought about a satisfactory situation [illegible] of what [illegible] began.

"Sag Harbor" is a strange play. Its theme is different from that of most plays. It is full of situations not at all impossible [illegible] but [illegible] In the hands of poor dramatic talent the critic would find an easy [illegible] in the assertion that the situations were improbable. In the [illegible] of the company that presented the play here [illegible] there is no need for any [illegible] for the play. It affords an opportunity for dramatic skill along unusual lines and the skill is there.

In [illegible] commentary upon the company it is difficult to tell just where to begin and difficult to stop before going through the entire cast. George Woodward as Captain Marble, who owns the sloop Katy, [illegible] has much to do with it in the [illegible] success. In appearance and in interpretation of the character he is the man for the [illegible] [illegible] things has [illegible] where [illegible] Miss [illegible] [illegible] does [illegible] to convey [illegible]

Miss J[illegible] Herre, who plays the part of Martha [illegible] who is engaged to Frank Turner and then marries his brother who has been [illegible] father and a better man [illegible] to her [illegible] most [illegible] young actresses who has been seen here in many months, and [illegible] the part of [illegible] the mind of the [illegible] that she has done right when her [illegible] decides the same way. It is understood that she is to play the part of [illegible] next year and one can not help thinking that she will be a [illegible] in the highest degree.

Crystal Herne [illegible] Jane Caldwell also pleases the audience greatly. Her part is not of sufficient prominence to give her as much opportunity as she [illegible] make [illegible] she is a great success [illegible]

Mrs. Sol Smith [illegible] who plays the part of Mrs. R[illegible] the widow [illegible] Frank Monroe, Forrest Robinson and [illegible] Dean as the three Turners also played their parts with skill and received [illegible] The [illegible] excepting its strong scenes [illegible] [illegible] There are others [illegible] there [illegible] "Sag Harbor" is in a class by itself. It has been [illegible] Way Down East [illegible] It is certainly [illegible] and the person who [illegible] of the three [illegible] thing good.

Buttonhole Interviews.

The flowers that bloom in the Spring,
Tra la,
Oh, ? ? ? have made a mistake
For th? ? ? ? ? ? ? do a thing,
Tra la,
But ? ? ? the buds as they spring,
Tra la,
To gather they turn to a fake,
Oh the flowers of Spring are a fake,
And that is the reason if I had my way,
I'd not ? ? in praise of the ? ? ? Spring.

The clearings that come in the Spring,
Tra la,
Discomforts they bring in their wake,
The scrub woman reigns ? ? ? king,
Tra la,
Th? ? ? the paint ? ? ? ? ?
Tra la,
The ? ? your ? ? ? break,
? the clearings of Spring are a fake,
And that ? the reason if I had my ? ?
I'd ? ? ? ? ? to the cleanings of Spring.

The chickens the dealer calls ? ?
Tra la,
For toughness they can ? ? ? ?
With an ax you may carve off a wing,
Tra la,
With ? ? ? ? ? ? thing,
Tra la,
Unless your teeth you would break,
Oh, the chickens of Spring are a fake,
And that is the reason if I had my ? ?
I ? ? in the ? ? the chickens of Spring.

The poets that sing of the Spring,
Tra la,
Th? ? of them make ? ? break,
They talk of the joys it will bring,
Tra la,
They ought to be ? ? ? ? ?
Tra la,
They never say, What will you take?
Oh, the poets of Spring are a fake,
And that is the reason if I had my thing
I'd put ? to prison the poets of Spring.
